

Do You Know Anyone Who is Tied Up in Procrastination, Poor Choices, Self-Pity, the Past, Denial, Clutter, Debt, Confusion, Toxic Relationships, Fear, Conformity, Continual Pain, Anger, Mediocrity, Negative Self-Talk, Doubt, or Stress?

Over two hundred million people in this country are tied up and delayed from accomplishing and living their dreams due to toxic habits, choices, people, and relationships. And according to Ty Howard, an organizational development, success habits, business, family and relationships consultant for over 23 years, unless we start identifying and untying the toxic knots that tie up our life, the U.S. will be a nation plagued with mediocre, debt ridden, procrastinating, and non-productive, people and companies.

A passionate speaker and empowerment coach who can address how to break free from toxic habits, choices, people, and relationships. Ty has gained control of his once out-of-control life through the application and mastery of the Untie the Knots® Process. He spent five of his early childhood years in foster care; was raised in the crime infested, low-income neighborhood known as Cherry Hill in South Baltimore City, Maryland; had an absentee father; became a teenage father; and almost dropped out of high school four times. Out of desperation, Ty joined the U.S. Navy where he received discipline, structure, a new way of thinking, a new way of acting, and the bold ability to break free from toxic bondage. For the past 21 years, he has coached and empowered both people and companies to move strategically from toxic bondage to significant productive freedom. Ty, who has been tied up in anger, procrastination, poor time management, excuse making, financial debt, poor choices, mediocrity, low sense of direction, and not wanting to forgive others, will keep your audience hanging on “every” suggestion for improvement or tip of advice for free and significant living as he discusses:

- How his life transitioned through living in foster care, becoming a teenage father, almost dropping out of school, excelling in the military, and now a very successful entrepreneur and communications business mogul
